

I. READING

Gorillas are the largest of all the primates. A male gorilla can be 180 centimetres tall and weigh up to 225 kg. A female gorilla can be 140 centimetres tall and weigh up to 120 kg. Gorillas are very strong but they do not often fight. In fact, they are peaceful animals. They can be aggressive when attacked or provoked. They are also intelligent and sociable. They inhabit the rainforests of central Africa. They have a broad chest, wide shoulders, short legs, and long, powerful, strong arms. They have black skin and fur.

Gorillas live in small family groups of about fifteen. In a group there is one strong, older male, some young males and a few females with their babies. They move slowly round a large area of jungle eating leaves and fruit.

In some ways gorillas are very like humans. When they are happy, they laugh and wave their arms. When they are angry, they beat their chests. When they are sad, they cry. But they cry quietly, without any tears.

Unfortunately, people hunt and kill gorillas. They also cut down and burn their trees. There are now only about a thousand gorillas left in the world.
